Hong Kong, 9 July 2024 Sotheby's will move to its new Maison on 27 July, offering a portal to a world of boundless inspiration and discovery. Showcasing hundreds of objects across art and luxury available for the public to view and purchase seven days a week in its 24,000 square-foot space, Sotheby's invites newcomers and seasoned connoisseurs at Landmark Chater – in the heart of Hong Kong’s Central district – to a journey through 80 million years of history, across more than 20 categories, spanning all continents and artistic endeavours.

Sotheby’s two-storey Maison presents a groundbreaking dual concept: the ground floor houses a dramatic state-of-the-art space designed for immersive experiences and moments of contemplation, where museum-grade exhibitions and performances will be staged, alongside Sotheby’s signature auction exhibitions spread throughout the year. The first floor features a uniquely curated retail experience exploring an array of cross-category art, luxury and collectibles spanning 80 million years of history and offered for instant purchase at prices ranging from HK$5,000 to HK$50 million.

On the ground floor, a series of debut exhibitions will run through this summer. Sotheby’s is honoured to present Bodhi: Masterpieces of Monumental Buddhist Art, an exhibition of monumental Buddhist sculpture tracing the development of Buddhist art. The captivating narrative continues with ICE: Two Masterworks on Loan from the Long Museum, that transcends time and geography. Gerhard Richter’s Eisberg, the ultimate example of the artist’s painterly re-examination of the landscape genre for the photographic age; and an exceptionally rare Ru ware brushwasher made circa 1100 in China, the beauty of its ice-like crackle having been praised by emperors and scholars for nearly a millennium.
